

Former NAVY* Quarterback John Cartwright now serves in God's ARMY

From Passer To Pastor

The 1967 football season was an exciting one for Navy football fans. The U.S. Naval Academy Midshipmen shocked the football world with victories over such national powers as Penn State, Michigan, Syracuse and Army. Three of Navy's opponent that year played in major bowl games. It was Navy's most exciting season since the 1963 team, quarterbacked by Roger Staubach, went to the Cotton Bowl.

The quarterback for Navy in 1967 was Senior John Cartwright, completing his third year as Navy's starting quarterback. John broke 13 of Roger Staubach's records at Navy that year. In this video you will hear John share his personal testimony of faith in Jesus Christ and how God has led in his life since that exciting season. In his message he will explain how this chapter in 1967 Navy football history can be used to help you find peace with God for all eternity.

The video "From Passer To Pastor" also includes highlights of the 1967 season's victories including the exciting 19-14 victory over a heavily favored Army team, and an upset victory over the Larry Csonka led Syracuse University squad. You will thrill as you watch Navy come from behind in the last minute to beat Joe Paterno's Penn State Nittany Lions 23-22.

"From Passer To Pastor" has been produced by The Master's View and Video Vision to help the Calvary International Christian School (CICS) provide financial assistance for needy families desiring to have their children attend the school. CICS is the Christian school started by Pastor John Cartwright and the Calvary Independent Baptist Church in Morton, Pennsylvania. Each year the school provides financial assistance to qualified inner-city families wanting a quality Christian education for their children.

If you would like to send a donation when requesting your video, please enclose your check made payable to Calvary International Christian School.
